• 301 W. Camden Street

BACKGROUND: Over 300 members of the United States Winter Olympic Team will be in attendance at a reception at Sports Legends Museum at Camden Yards on Tuesday, April 20. Team USA athletes, coaches and administrators are visiting Baltimore prior to their meeting in Washington, DC with President Barack Obama.

“Obviously this is a tremendous honor for us to have Team USA visit Sports Legends Museum,” stated Mike Gibbons, executive director of the Museum. “Our mission is to celebrate great athletes and events, and no group epitomizes excellence in sports more than our country’s Olympians.”

“For Maryland to be associated with Team USA, especially as part of their itinerary for a week that involves a visit to the White House, speaks volumes about what are great State has to offer,” said Terry Hasseltine, director, Maryland Office of Sports Marketing.

About Sports Legends Museum

Located adjacent to Oriole Park, Sports Legends Museum at Camden Yards opened in May 2005 and consists of 22,000 square feet of artifacts and interactive exhibits profiling Maryland’s sports history. Whether it is a walk down memory lane celebrating the athletes, teams or moments of yesteryear, or enjoying the endeavors of today’s local sports scene, Sports Legends Museum offers something for fans of all ages. The Babe Ruth Museum owns and operates both Sports Legends Museum and the Babe Ruth Birthplace.
